Errors

This section shows site quality issues, including broken links and server mis-configurations.

Priority 1

2 issues on 4 pages

- This link is broken. The page could not be found on the target web server.
Fixing this depends on how the link became broken:
 - The link has been mistyped and should be fixed
 - The destination page has moved and the link should be updated
 - The destination page no longer exists and the link should be removed
 - A file has been accidentally deleted and should be replaced

● Identify row and column headers in data tables using `th` elements, and mark layout tables with `role=presentation`.

Data tables allow screen reader users to understand column and row relationships. Layout tables read cells as a series of unrelated paragraphs with no tabular structure. Without `th` or `role`, screen readers apply heuristics to decide whether a table is a layout table or data table. These heuristics vary greatly between screen readers, and are affected by browser being used, window size, and font size (so the outcome is very unpredictable without `th` or `role`). If a data table has headers marked up using `td`, then change these to `th`. If a data table has no headers, add `th` elements describing each row and/or column. If the table is only used for layout add `role=presentation` to the table element. Impact on users:

- JAWS Reading: Treats tables without `th`
 - and `role`
 - as layout tables if the table contains cells above or below certain pixel sizes. This measurement is affected by browser window size, browser font size, and the browser used.
- NVDA Reading: Applies a layout table heuristic to tables without `th`
 - and `role`
 - which varies depending on the browser used and on the window size in some circumstances.
- VoiceOver Reading: Uses a sophisticated heuristic on tables without `th`
 - and `role`
 - , which is similar (but not identical) to the heuristic used by NVDA with Firefox.

● `iframe` and `frame` elements must have a title attribute.

Add a title attribute or ARIA label to each `iframe` and `frame` element (e.g. `title='Main Content'`). Without a title some screen readers read out the frame filename, which is usually meaningless. Impact on users:

- VoiceOver macOS 10.14 Safari 13.0 macOS 10.14.6 Reading: Meaningless frame title read out.
- VoiceOver macOS 10.13 Safari 12.1 macOS 10.13.6 Reading: Meaningless frame title read out.

● img elements must have an accessible name.

Add an alt attribute describing the image, which screen readers voice instead of the image. Spacer images and purely decorative images should use alt="" . Do not use alt text containing only spaces since that's voiced as an unlabeled image. Impact on users:

● The CSS outline or border style on this element makes it difficult or impossible to see the dotted link focus outline.

Change the style to avoid obscuring the focus outline around focusable elements. Using a border or outline style that obscures the focus ring causes problems for keyboard-only users in:

- Chrome (obscures the focus indicator on links, buttons, dropdowns and range controls)
- Firefox (obscures the focus indicator on links)
- Internet Explorer (obscures the focus indicator on links, buttons and range controls)

Internet Explorer does not support the `outline-offset:` property, so using this does not reliably avoid focus outline overlap.

 Avoid specifying a new window as the target of a link with target=_blank. Displaying new windows without warning can be very confusing to non-sighted and mobile users. Some screen readers and mobile devices give very little indication a new tab or window has opened. If you cannot avoid displaying a new window, insert a warning into the link text like the following: "opens in a new window".

 Ensure that text and background colors have a 7:1 contrast ratio. Some users find it hard to read light gray text on a white background, dark gray text on a black background and white text on a red background. Note: The default link color in IE11 has poor contrast on a white background. Fix by specifying a:link and a:visited colors in CSS.

- The contrast ratio should be 4.5 or more for 18 point text, or larger
- The contrast ratio should be 4.5 or more for 14 point bold text, or larger
- The contrast ratio should be 7.0 or more for all other text

The text color to background color contrast ratio is:

Guideline: Usability.gov 2:6

 Omitting img width or height attributes makes the page layout jump about as images load.

This makes the page very hard to read or click while it's loading. Fix by adding width and height attributes to the img tag matching the image dimensions. In responsive layouts, specifying width and height prevents layout jumping because the browser can pre-calculate the final image size when CSS like this is used: `img { max-width: 100%; height: auto }`

 On long pages, provide a list of contents with links that take users to the corresponding content farther down the page.

For long pages with distinct sections, add a short, clickable list of sections at the top of the page. This provides a page outline, and allows users to quickly navigate to specific information.

This page title is not unique. Each page should have a descriptive and meaningfully different title.

Title refers to the text displayed on browser tabs, favorites, and in search engines results pages. If two or more pages have the same title, they cannot be differentiated by users or the Favorites capability of the browser.

Use label elements for each data entry field to show what data is expected. Make sure each input field has an associated label describing the field.

Use text links rather than image links. In general, text links are more easily recognized as clickable.

Text links usually download faster, are preferred by users, and should change colors after being selected. It is usually easier to convey a link's destination in text, rather than with the use of an image. Users often find it hard to tell which images are clickable without moving the cursor over them ('minesweeping'). Another benefit to using text links is that users with text-only and deactivated graphical browsers can see the navigation options.

Use at least a 12-point font on all web pages.

For users over age 65, it may be better to use at least fourteen-point fonts. Never use less than nine-point font on a Web site.

The following are all smaller than 12 point:

- ``
- ``
- ``

- Use bold text sparingly - for one or two words or a short phrase. Keep runs of bold text to less than 70 characters.

- Use link text between 3 and 100 characters so it's long enough to be understood, but avoids line wrapping.

A single word text link may not give enough information about the link's destination. A link that is a full sentence is difficult to read quickly, particularly if it wraps to another line.
